Skinner, Minneapolis: Levi Butler Post, No. 73, and its auxiliary, Relief Corps No. 3, have been very active in works of charity during the past year. Last September one of the comrades had the misfortune to lose his house and furniture by fire, and being a cripple the loss was particularly severe. In six weeks from the date of the fire, the Post, with the assistance of the Relief Corps, had erected a neat six-room house, which was comfortably furnished, and the comrade and his family moved in in time to escape the rigors of a Winter in the Northwest. Besides this, the Post has paid out $150 to other comrades in difficulty. We organized March 13, 1884, and our auxiliary was formed only last August. We have 90 members in good standing and the Post is prosperoes in every way.—

This, and a brilliant Daniel, at Rushville, Ill., witnessed a novel muster. It seems Daniel Webster, formerly of the 3d Vt., made application for admission to Col. Horney Post, 131, G.A.R., at Rushville, Department of Illinois, but owing to a lung difficulty it was impossible for him to be out in the night air. W. E. Webster called on Post Commander
H. Craske, who kindly ordered a special encampment at the residence of Daniel Webster at 3 p. m. the same day. The comrades were present, and Daniel is now a full-fledged G.A. Gleanings from National Headquarters--Notes from the Departments.

HEADQUARTERS WOMAN'S RELIEF CORPS, TOLEDO, O. KATE B. SHERWOOD, National President, EMMA D. SIBLEY, National Secretary.

TOLEDO, O., Jan. 8, 1885. New Year's passed very pleasantly, the National Secretary receiving calls socially during the afternoon, with the National President, at her residence, where a bevy of girls were assembled, and numerous visitors, with hearty greetings, made the brief Winter hours pass very swiftly. In the evening the National officers, assisted by officers of Forsyth Relief Corps, held a reception at National Headquarters, where many, both ladies and gentlemen, asembled, who may be counted among the staunch friends of the Woman's Relief Corps. National Headquarters was appropriately decorated for the occasion with flowers and flags and pictures. Each guest, upon departing, was presented with a pleasant

SOUVENIR CARD, bearing the Maltese cross in the center, with the following greeting:

A HAPPY NEW YEAR. G.A.R. FRATERNITY, CHARITY, LOYALTY. A glad New Year! friends, one and all!

One faith, one flag, our own we call! May all our days together tell The mystic bonds, "F., C., and L." It is proper to say that Comrades Montgomery & Vrooman, printers, and among the earliest and staunchest friends of the W.R.C., presented the National officers with these beautiful mementoes. A LITTLE BOY'S PRAYER ANSWERED. Some weeks since the National President received a touching letter from a soldier's wife in the far West, telling of sorrow, privation, and disappointment beyond the common order. As there was no Relief Corps in that part of the country she brought the matter to the attention of an Eastern Corps, which, after satisfying themselves of the facts in the case, sent a fine box of clothing and good things, which reached its destination on Christmas eve. The mother makes grateful response,

We received the box Christmas Eve, and no pen can write or tongue tell how delighted the children were, for they did not expect anything Christmas. I am so thankful, and though I may never repay the ladies, perhaps my children will be able to lend a helping hand to some poor soldier or his family. And O, how a kind word helps one who has trials! The little boy, for whom the clothes were sent, was almost destitute. He can go to Sunday school now. Before the box came he said to me one morning: "Ma, do you know I made the longest and best prayer I ever made in my life," and now the prayer is answered. When I say the thermome-

OLD SOLDIERS' CHRISTMAS. TO THE EDITOR: Since the first efforts were inaugurated in behalf of a Soldiers' Home in Massa-chusetts the Woman's Relief Corps of the State has been counted among its most earnest friends. In response to an invitation extended, a representative gathering of Relief Corps was held at the Home in Chelsea on Monday evening, Dec. 22, for the pur-pose of assisting to make the Christmas festival of 1884 a merry one for the hundred or more veterans who during the war were the special subjects of a Nation's thoughts and prayers and tears as the various holidays of those trying years "come and

The maskers marched through the halls and hospital, some of them wearing most beautiful costumes. The Superintendent presented a dignified appearance as Gen. Mrs. Isabella Foster, National Corresponding Secretary and Department Inspector of Maine, reports very satisfactory visits at all points visited. She especially compliments the new Corps at Searsport, whose first work after organizing was to give a highly successful Camp-fire. Ellsworth Relief Corps, Grant City, Mo., Anna Sparks, President, is doing famous work. On New Year's Day Ellsworth Post had a grand Ellsworth Corps. The evening was given up to a grand Camp-fire, including music, recitations and addresses. In assembling the Corps for work the President issued a ringing patriotic call, urging the members to be promptly on hand with baskets of good things, and words of cheer and welcome, and so prove to the old soldiers that, although they are fast dropping out and joining the "Silent Grand Army," their acts of heroism are still rem embered.

At a recent entertainment given by the Rockford (III.) Relief Corps, over which the Department President, Mrs. Julia G. Sine, presided, 100 persons sat down to dinner. In the evening there was dancing, and $30 realized in selling chances on a fine pig, presented to the Corps, a large doll and aighan. Guessing on the number of seeds in a pumpkin was an amusing feature of the evening. On guessing the number of pumpkin seeds Maj. J. B. Sine captured the pies. He guessed that there were three seeds in the pumpkin, and under ordinary circumstances one would laugh at the idea of that figure being correct, but it seems that the vegetable had been cut open, the seeds taken out, and then only five put back. The guessing ran from 1 to 960.

Ohio be represented in the Board of Managers? A large number of the inmates of the Home are girls and the proportion must continue to be large. The experiment of giving the ladies representa-tion on the County Boards of Charities has been most happy, and it should be extended to the State Benevolent Boards, particularly at the Soldiers and Sailors' Orphan's Home. We are aware that there are legal difficulties in the way, but the people of Ohio can brush them aside as cobwebs of the old superstition, that the voice of woman must not be heard in State affairs. Too much cannot be said in praise of the ladies employed at the Home in various capacities. Their tasks are not easy ones hunt, returning in the evening to find a mag-nificent supper awaiting them, prepared by Ellsworth Corps. The evening was given up duty.

Reunion of the 93d Pa. The next Reunion of the 93d Pa. will be held at Gettysburg some time in September next, at which time the memorial tablet unveiled in October last will be fully completed, and the surroundings in a better condition. The Corresponding Secretary of the Association of the Survivors of the 93d Pa. has been in correspondence with some of the survivors of N. Y. (Anderson's Zouaves), with a view of the 98th, 102d and 139th Pa., and the 62d holding a brigade Reunion, and so far the replies received have all been very enthusiastic in favor of the project. The brigade was organized at Tennallytown n the Winter of 1861-62, under command of Gen. Peck, and was composed originally of the 55th and 62d N. Y. and the 95th, 98th, and 102d Pa. While on the march from Chantilly to Antietam the 55th N. Y. was detached, and never afterwards joined the brigade, and on the day of the battle at Antietam the 139th Pa. joined us, the brigade being then in Couch's flying division, and unattached to any corps. When the army again moved into Virginia we were attached to Franklin's Corps, which became the famous Sixth Corps, when numbers were assigned. The brigade, as a unit, was never afterwards disturbed, and many warm personal friendships were formed. To renew those friendships the brigade Reunion is now proposed, and with every prospect of its being Spring Hill to Franklin.

TO THE EDITOR: I noticed in THE NA-TIONAL TRIBUNE of Dec. 25 that Comrade J. D. Remington, of Co. I, 73d Ill., lays claim to his brigade (First Division, Fourth Corps) being rear-guard from Spring Hill to Franklin Nov. Infield, of Co. I. 97th Ohio; but, if my memory serves me right, they are both wrong. The Corps, left Spring Hill some time in the morning, I think, about 8 or 9 o'clock; and when we left the town of Spring Hill there were no troops visible in the rear of us, and when we arrived at Franklin the breastworks on either side of the pike upon which we entered in position to give the Johnnies a hearty reception on their arrival. My regiment (the 19th Ohio) was marched across the river over the railroad bridge into a fort close by the the army to Nashville as rear-guard; which we night and the next day, getting to Nashville patchwork, as suggested in The Tribune, late in the afternoon. I well remember how several comrades ran through the fire over the bridge after we had set it on fire. Just as our up on us with shot and shell, which caused

An Extraordinary Case.

An eminent lawyer of the city of New York, Hon. Jos. R. FLANDERS, formerly law-partner of ex-Vice President Wheeler, and for several years a member of the N. Y. State Legislature, A neat roster has been issued by the Depart-nent of New Hampshire for 1884-'85, with in-appointed office in "Temple Court," and interviewed in regard to his experience with Compound Oxygen. "I found him," says the SPLENDID OPPORTUNITY TO GET IT! Reporter, "disposed to engage in conversation regarding his illness and his complete restoration to health." His statement was substantially as follows:

"For many years I suffered from weak digestion and the dyspepsia consequent upon it. My health since I was twenty-one years of age was not at any time vigorous. Gradually I declined into a state of physical and nervous prostration, in which work became almost an impossibility. In 1879 I was all run down in strength and spirits. Energy and ambition had departed. "So I kept on until the Summer of 1882.

Then I went to Thousand Islands, where I stayed several weeks with friends. But I found that the atmosphere did not agree with me. I came away feeling that the battle of life was nearly ended. The next time I saw my old lawpartner, Vice President Wheeler, he told me that the Doctor had said to him that he never expected again to see me alive. When I arrived at home in September, it was in such a state of exhaustion that I was unable to leave the house except on mild days, and then only to walk slowly a block or two.

"Meanwhile my son had learned something about Compound Oxygen, and wrote, urging me to try it. But I had lost all faith in remedies. I had tried many things, and had no energy to try any more. In September, how- Peterson's Magazine..... ever, my son came to New York and persuaded Subordinate Corps—

It was a complicated case, promising to give much trouble and to require close attention. I had no ambition to take it, for I had no confidence in my ability to attend to it. I Order, Postal Note, or Registered Letter, addressed consented, however, to advise concerning it, and to do a little work. One complication Emma J. Colby, Chas. H. Phelps, 13, Amherst; Sophia E. Dodge, after another arose. I kept working at it all Winter and into the Spring. For three months this case required as continuous thought and labor as I had ever bestowed on any case in all my legal experience. Yet under the constant pressure and anxiety I grew stronger, taking Compound Oxygen all the time. In the Spring to my astonishment and that of my friends, I was as fit as ever for hard work.

"My present health is such that I can without hardship or undue exertion attend to the business of my profession, as of old.
